GRADUATE PARTNERSHIPS

The Graduate Partnership team has had some serious help from one of our peers in admissions this past year. Donna Pappapietro, Associate Director of Admissions, has been working to recruit students for Regis' new 24-Month Accelerated BSN program. As she has been doing that, she has helped sign on 4 new strong partnerships and others are in progress!

By sharing the benefits of being a partner, Donna has been able to help connect the applicant employers HR contacts with our partnership team and they have been able to seal the deal. This will help Regis as we market our programs to new audiences but also helps the employer since they have a new HR benefit to share with their teams.

The partnership group is always looking for new contacts and new ideas so if you are reading this and have an idea of a company, hospital or school that would be a valuable partner to Regis, take Donna's lead and please reach out to partnerships@regiscollege.edu.

While it certainly feels like winter these days here in Weston, we are preparing for the upcoming summer and fall 2021 course registration period. Now is a good time to review your course plan in your Regis Hub account.

Meet the Regis College Graduate Ambassadors

Mary Stathos

BS, MA '20

Hometown: Orange County, CA

After receiving her MA in Counseling Psychology, Mary Stathos became an outpatient clinician with Northeast Center for Youth and Families.

“After getting involved with mental health advocacy during my undergraduate career, I found I was extremely passionate about helping people overcome the obstacles associated with mental illness,” Stathos recalls. “I became very passionate about destigmatizing mental illness and wanting people to feel confident with who they are as well as feel empowered to change their story. Being able to do this kind of work in the mental health field isn’t possible without a degree and after two years of trying to do the advocacy work in the community after graduating from undergrad, I felt compelled to take the leap! The small class size and individual attention were big draws for me. Collaboration with students happened almost constantly, especially in the last year of the program where the internship class was just a space to collaborate and bounce ideas off of classmates and the professor. Between receiving feedback and doing role plays, the communication within the program happened constantly. As for collaboration there, I worked on a multidisciplinary team and the collaboration was constant, which was a great preparation for the workforce. Regis offered a variety of opportunities to meet future employers throughout the program as well. When I was having a tough time keeping balance, my professors were always more than happy to listen to me because they knew what I was going through when not everyone in my life did.”
