Some of the most frequent questions we get at the library are about APA Style and format. There's no question why: APA Style is complex and it takes time and practice to learn. While there are numerous resources that can help with APA Style, here are a few tips that can get you started:

- Make sure to have a copy of the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (7th ed.)! If you don't have a copy of the official manual for APA Style, we highly recommend getting one. The manual details everything from writing style and mechanics (e.g., how to use abbreviations or create a bulleted list) to in-text citations (e.g., how to cite works with the same author and same date) to paper format (i.e., student versus professional) and more. The manual is one of the best tools to have at your fingertips when using APA Style.

- Take a look at our research guide, APA Style, 7th edition - Citing Sources. With over 120,000 views, this research guide is our most popular resource by a landslide. Our guide explains and addresses the major components of APA Style. It includes detailed information about how to format your paper, how to cite your sources (both in-text and in the reference list), and even has templates for student and professional style papers.
- We also recommend checking out the APA Style website and blog. The APA Style website includes a section on Style and Grammar Guidelines and provides tutorials and handouts related to different aspects of the style. There's also a new resource, Mastering APA Style Student Workbook, which is an interactive and self-paced guide to learning APA Style. The workbook is available to purchase or rent on the APA website.

Please feel free to reach out to the library if you have any questions or find yourself struggling with a tricky citation! You can e-mail us at reference@regiscollege.edu or schedule an appointment using this Research Consultation Request form. Our updated library hours can be found on the library's website here.

Meet the Regis College Graduate Ambassadors

Angelina Damiano ABSN '20

Hometown: Bellingham, Mass.

Work: Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center Needham

As I was making my way through my undergraduate program, I had the opportunity to explore many fields within the discipline of health science. After a number of internships and experiences within the field, I constantly found myself gravitating towards the profession of nursing. In light of this, I set out for an ABSN program to fulfill my dreams.

I found that the ABSN program offered through Regis had key characteristics and aspects that I was searching for and I have not once regretted my decision to go here! I have grown to understand that networking is all that you make of it. Since this realization, I have taken full advantage of the professional relationships that I have been able to form with Regis faculty and the staff at my clinical placements. As I have had many questions about continuing education, I have been able to reach out to and get the feedback from a few of the staff members at Regis, and they were so beyond helpful at giving me important tips and pointers. I believe that I have not only formed good relationships with the staff, but with my fellow students as well.

One of the many driving forces that brought me to Regis was how small the program was. I knew that if I was accepted, it meant that Regis saw core values in myself and the other students that got accepted. In many ways, I am very similar to my classmates, which has made it almost effortless to form genuine bonds.

"We are constantly looking out for each other and doing pretty much anything we can to have each other's backs while we make it through the program as a cohort."

My support system first started with my family and friends. I was literally radiating with joy when I got accepted, as I was one big step closer to my dream of becoming a nurse.

Tips from your Peers on Time Management

As we begin this new school year, we've heard from many of you about how hard it is to manage your time effectively with so much going on. Each month we will share a tip from one of your peers who have had success with managing their time.

Jacqueline DiChristofero (ABS)

"As a nursing major, I plan to create audio tapes of practice."

Intriguing idea, Jacqueline. Thank you. Now, it's your turn to share your sage wisdom. If you have a tip to share for an upcoming issue of GradWire, please submit it here.
