ON CAMPUS COVID 19 TESTING PROTOCOL

All students, faculty and staff who will be on campus for the fall 2021 semester should make an appointment for a test at the Center for Health and Wellness Testing Center OR upload an off-site PCR test result into CoVerified within the week prior to the date in which they are required to return to campus.

Students approved by Regis for an exemption from the COVID-19 vaccine will need to obtain a negative PCR test result from a test that was collected within 72 hours of arrival to campus.

Free off-site tests can be scheduled through Project Beacon. You can also schedule an appointment with the Regis Center for Health and Wellness Testing Center through CoVerified by clicking “Testing” on the main page of the app.

Any questions about testing, please contact health.services@regiscollege.edu, or call 781-768-7290. For help with the CoVerified app and for general questions, please email covid19@regiscollege.edu.

The start of the fall semester is upon us and I wish you much success as you begin your classes. One way to help you stay organized is make sure you may quickly access the appropriate academic calendar for important dates and deadlines.

- The Online Programs Academic Calendar: 2021-2022
- The On-Campus/Hybrid Programs Academic Calendar: 2021-2022

I also recommend that you view your specific degree requirements at the start of your academic program, and every semester thereafter.

As a Regis student, you have access to your individualized degree audit and it displays the number of credits needed, core curriculum, and tracks your progress towards your degree. It is a fantastic tool!

To check your degree audit:

- Log in to Regis Hub
- Select the Student Planning application
- Click on the Degree Audit option

How Do I Get There?

- Self-Service Home → Student Planning → Go to My Degree Audit

Regis College Library

Welcome to all new and returning students! Whether you're starting your first semester or approaching your last, the library is here to help!

As you begin your research assignments this semester, make sure to take advantage of our numerous databases (<https://libguides.regiscollege.edu/az.php>). As a Regis College student, you don't have to rely on Google or Google Scholar to find articles and scholarly resources. The library provides access to over 65 different databases, including CINAHL, Academic Search Complete, ERIC, JSTOR, and more.

If you don't know where to start, try taking a look at our research guides (<https://libguides.regiscollege.edu/>), which cover a variety of different subjects. These guides can help you navigate the research process, from defining your PICO or research question to citing your sources and formatting your paper.

We also offer research consultation appointments. If you're having trouble and need advice on which database is best for your research or if you want to brainstorm ways to improve your search results, you can set up a research appointment to meet with a librarian one-on-one.

Reach out to the Library if you have questions, we are happy to help and will accommodate your schedule. We know you are busy. You can email us at reference@regiscollege.edu or make an appointment here: <https://libguides.regiscollege.edu/contactus>. Library hours can be found here: <https://www.regiscollege.edu/academics/library/library-services/library-hours> We look forward to working with you!

Training & Development

Are you working on your thesis or dissertation? Microsoft Word can be a nuisance when it comes to formatting. Rather than wait until the end to try to format your document, set the required formats in Word at the beginning. Regis Training & Professional Development offers two ways to help.

30-minute 1-on-1 sessions where we can help you through the Word formatting challenge To sign up for one of these 30-minute sessions, go here.

Word – 10 Things to Know training class

Offered twice in October.

- October 15, 10 a.m. – 12 p.m. in-person on the Weston campus
- October 18 (Part 1) and October 25 (Part 2), both 2 – 3 p.m. via Zoom

To sign up for these or any of the free software training classes offered by Regis Training and Professional Development, go here.

Learn more on the Training & Professional Development site on SharePoint.

Center for Student Engagement

The Center for Student Engagement in collaboration with the Regis College Campus Pride Index, is gauging student interest in the creation of an LGBTQIA+ club/organization specific to graduate and doctoral students.

Please complete this interest form if you would be interested in participating in a club/organization for LGBTQIA+ graduate/doctoral students, attending programs and events, or would like to receive more information.

Meet the Regis College Graduate Ambassadors

Nickolas Vargovic

MS '17

In my new role as the Assistant Director of Employer and Alumni Relations, I oversee a handful of industries and work closely with our employers in each of those industries to best connect them with our students. Ultimately this involves researching and identifying targeted employers based on student interest/industry trend, discussing employers' recruitment goals and timelines, and assessing their targeted audience for open positions or roles in the pipeline. I further assess how our Centers' various recruitment events and networking opportunities can be a good fit for the employer while connecting with students. Additional tasks and responsibilities include developing marketing materials showcasing employer offerings, connecting with students during drop in hours for career development related questions, serving as a project manager for a specific event or career fair, coordinating with student clubs on event partnership.

Having graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology, I was quite aware of the few career paths this degree could take you down. Knowing a graduate degree would open many more doors, I was driven to continue my education. After serving in the role of Health and Wellness Coordinator with Regis College, this experience further supported my desire to continue to support others from a holistic model, taking into account all areas of development. The principles from my degree and experiences in the program have shaped the professional I am today, specifically on how I approach my work, and think about structure and strategy. In addition, I am able to utilize a certain lens of understanding our work and how it fits within the overall landscape. It is this approach that has enabled me to stand out in many ways over my career and even has played a part of how I got to where I am today. My professional aspirations have become more solidified as I continue to grow in my career and I am exposed to various lines of work. Recognizing my ability to connect well with others and enjoying the mentor role I serve in while working within student affairs, it is evident I will soon enough continue my education within mental health counseling with the hope to utilize this degree within higher education and beyond.
