Dear Regis parents and families,

Happy beginning of the new academic year! We recognize this is not how many of us envisioned starting the fall semester. During these unprecedented times, we want to remind you that we are here to serve as a resource and to offer support to you and your student. You are our most important allies in supporting your student's success and empowering them to be future change agents. We are grateful for your partnership and look forward to collaborating with you throughout the year.

We will be sending monthly newsletters to share university announcements, campus resources, helpful tips for supporting your student, and various opportunities for your student to get involved in the Regis community. We are excited for all that this year will bring and to experience this educational journey alongside you and your student.

With pride,

Marsha Glines, PhD

Staying Connected with Upcoming Events

At Regis, we strive to provide a holistic experience for our students. We work to support them in their academic endeavors, and hope they will engage with the many leadership opportunities, social events, and programming available. Encouraging your student to be involved outside of the classroom will not only allow them to meet new friends, it will also help them continue developing new skills and talents. To learn more about the many events and programs being offered throughout the year, please visit our This Week at Regis archive and follow the Center for Student Engagement on Instagram.

Virtual Involvement Fair

Is your student having a difficult time finding their place at Regis in this remote environment? We invite them to connect with our Virtual Involvement Fair! The website will go live September 10, and it will be an opportunity for students to hear from the student leadership of our 30+ clubs and organizations. We hope your student will attend the virtual fair and find a community that speaks to their interests and identities. For more information, please contact the Center for Student Engagement.
